City Election Soon... No Excitement Yet

Interest in the election of three candidates out of a field of eight to membership on the city Board of Trustees is a little more general than it was last week.

With the election only ten days off, it has been figured out by several who are supposed to be politically wise in local affairs that two of the eight entrants have "no show" whatever.

Any three of the remaining six are conceded "a good chance to win."

There are 511 citizens qualified to vote at this election. This number will not vote. The vote will probably be about 450. Any candidate, it is pointed out, who receives 225 votes will be elected.

PRESIDENT PROCLAIMS AMERICAN FOREST WEEK

President Coolidge has designated April 18-24, inclusive, as the 1926 American Forest Week, according to an official proclamation. He gave full weight to the evils resulting from impoverished and idle forest land, but declared that a change is taking place in the attitude of landowners toward the country's forests.

Secretary of Agriculture Jardine, in making public the forestry proclamation, emphasized the importance of tree crops to the farmer and small landowner, declaring that one-third of all forest land in the United States is in small wood-lots. He also pointed out that the observance of American Forest Week has reached nation-wide proportions and that the annual campaign is directed by the American Forest Week, a federation of nearly 100 organizations with Hon. Frank O. Lowden, of Illinois as chairman. The Department of Agriculture is represented on this committee by the Forest Service, the Bureau of Plant Industry, and the Biological Survey.

A new feature of this year's observance is the formation of forest week committees in each state and Alaska in order that local forestry problems can be studied and met by states, counties, and municipalities. Canada has issued a proclamation calling for the observance of a Forest Week this spring at the same time it is observed in the United States.

'Dulcy' is Delightful... Not a 'Dumb Dora'

A special performance of the captivating "Dulcy" was given last night before a house sold out in advance, and the play will be given for the last time tonight. This charming production marks an auspicious beginning for the Golden Bough's new season.

Probably the strongest proof of the excellence of "Dulcy" is the fact that the advance sale for last night indicated that scores of people who attended the play last month were intending to see it again.

The next production, "To the Play-ground," is a new play by Irving Brant, a tabloid crook melodrama, with a novel situation and an original twist. It will be given May 1st and 8th, to be followed on the 14th and 15th by "The Man Who Ate The Popomak."

But—"Dulcy" tonight, for the last time—and if you haven't already seen it, don't miss this opportunity.

HOT BASEBALL

There were two upsets in the Abalone League baseball games last Sunday. In the opening session the heretofore (almost) invincible Owls, captained by Fred Bechdolt, took the short end of a 12 to 8 score. Halsted-Yates' Larks did the trick.

And, marvel of marvels, Col. Dutton's Eagles came to life after losing four games, and by a close score humbled Jimmy Hopper's Hawks.

Anything can happen tomorrow, which marks the play of the last game of the present series. A winner of the cup can emerge or three teams can tie.

Just now the teams stand like this:

	Games	W.	L.	Pct.
Larks	6	4	2	.666
Owls	6	4	2	.666
Hawks	6	3	3	.500
Eagles	6	2	4	.333

PASSENGER TRAIN SCHEDULE ALTERED

There will be no change in the Del Monte Express or No. 213 which leave at 6:50 p.m. to connect for San Francisco and Los Angeles.

Carmel to Have Fine Art Gallery

That which artists, both resident and visiting, have desired in Carmel for a long time is about to be realized.

It has always been something of a wonder that Carmel, known the world over as an art center, had no centrally situated, picturesquely located, open-at-all-times art gallery.

However, we are now to have such an establishment. The former Hand residence at San Carlos and Fourth, at the northeasterly entrance into the residence and business section of Carmel, recently purchased by Mrs. Harriet Stoddard, has undergone numerous alterations under the direction of Watrous and Denny, until now a considerable portion of the house is especially well appointed for the display of pictures.

Peninsula artists and others are now assured that they will have a permanent and attractive gallery for the display of their pictures, and the visiting public, who frequently come to Carmel to see pictures, will not be disappointed.

"SOMETHING OUR PINE TREES CANNOT GIVE"

A year ago, in Berkeley, I went complacently to see Mrs. Armer's Indian pictures. Complacently, for had I not spent eight weeks in the Indian country, and did not I know how a Hopi tied his hair?

I cannot remember the moment when my shallow complacency shrivelled up and dropped away, for I had forgotten all about myself, as soon as I began really to look at the pictures. And there are not many things that make us forget our precious selves.

One does not talk of technique in face of these pictures, nor does one try to explain nor to understand—only to feel. To feel the bigness of the desert, its peace, its agelessness, and the way these things have entered into the minds of its children. If you have ever lain in a sleeping-bag under the incredible stars of the desert, or sat by a dying camp-fire while your Navajo guide sang queer, sudden bits of song with controlled jerkings of his thin hands, you will find that rapture again in these paintings—not the scene you saw but the thing back of that scene, the thing that for ages had gone to make that moment for you.

And if you have not been in the desert, but have dreamed vainly of it, perhaps you'd better not see these pictures, for they'll drive you mad with longing for something our pine trees cannot give.

—Susan Porter.

DON'T PUT IT OFF UNTIL IT'S TOO LATE*

Many citizens of Carmel have not yet registered. The primary election for county and state officials, a congressman and a United States Senator takes place in August. Those who have not done so, must register. The books are now open at the Pine Cone office.

* Good advice; many need it; few heed it.

Court of Honor at Sunset School

Arrangements are being made to hold a Court of Honor at the Sunset School, Carmel, Friday, April 9th, at 7:45 p.m., where scouts of all Peninsula troops will appear for their pins and badges. Carmel Martin, chairman of the Court of Honor, will preside, and the public and friends of scouts are invited to attend. The Court of Honor is to be regularly held each month somewhere on the peninsula, alternating between Carmel, Pacific Grove and Monterey. These meetings are arranged to present to scouts who have qualified in the different tests, their pins and merit badges, and the ceremony is unusually interesting.

Preliminary to the Court of Honor, the Scout Masters, Messrs. Young, Carter, Hall, and Talcott, will meet with Mr. Normand at 6 o'clock at the Southern Home Cooking, Carmel, for dinner and discussion on scout topics.

The Patrol Leaders School for the Pacific Grove troops was in session last Wednesday. It is the plan of Mr. Normand to hold these schools where leadership training is taught.

* * *

W. H. Norman, Scout Executive, will meet with the scouts of the peninsula troops this morning at 10:30 at the Del Monte Bath House, where instructions and examinations will be held in swimming and Junior Red Cross life savings.

Auto Hosts One-Sixth as Great as U. S. Population

IT'S a far cry from the full skirts, wasp waists and leg o' mutton sleeves of twenty-five years ago, but we have traveled also a long way from the two-cylinder gas wagon of 1900 to the high-powered motors speeding over our highways today, declares the Stewart-Warner Safety Council.

A quarter of a century ago there was one automobile for every 9,500 people in the United States. Ten years ago there was one automobile for every 38 people, while today the motor population is one-sixth as large as the human population, or one car to every six people. This rapid growth has put the automobile as foremost among American industries, but it has also produced a fearful menace to the public, points out the Safety Council which has for its purpose the prevention of automobile accidents. A vigorous campaign of public education must be pushed if annual rate of automobile fatalities is to be reduced from 22,000.

YES—BUT ABOUT THE MORTGAGE

THE farmer doesn't have much ready cash. The income tax returns show that less than one per cent of the farmers ever catch up with $3000 in a whole year.

But the farmer without a cent rather has the edge on most of the town fellows, no matter what their bank roll.

When the farmer wants bacon and eggs he reaches up in the smoke-house and under Moll's manger and secures his breakfast without arguing with the butcher or sniffing at a cold storage egg.

The landlord doesn't bother him and the gas man passeth him by. Burglars and firebugs and pickpockets and doctors and lawyers equally eschew him and the society reporter never gets him out of bed to refute some new scandal about his youngest daughter.

Old Farmer Broadtoes is some crippled up, and his back is a bit bent, and his store teeth don't always fit, but what's his is "his" by heck, and he can look every son of a gun in the eye and tell them to go plumb to.

The farmer may chase a calf out of the young corn, but he doesn't have to chase his feet off hunting a job.

His children may not grace dansants or wiggle in tango tea rooms but they can depend on the old farm giving them a comfortable, carefree, healthy, hearty, happy, living until they go to their own nest, and many a town bank balance fails to insure posterity its fair chance.

The farmer doesn't have much hard cash, but he usually gets about everything that cash can buy; and Providence, for his reward, gives him a lot that money never could purchase.

You find mighty few farmers becoming cynics when they come to rest on the threshold of eternity.—Los Angeles Record.

IS PRIVATE PRINTING A GOVERNMENT FUNCTION?

THE small newspaper publisher with his job printing office has been harder hit by government ownership and competition in the printing industry than have the operators of any other line of business. The little printer is in direct competition with the great tax-free government printing office with its tremendous buying power backed by the credit of the United States Treasury itself.

The National Editorial Association is at the present time leading in the campaign to get the government out of the commercial printing business. If it can print and sell envelopes, why not print and sell the letterhead paper to go with the envelopes; or sell letter paper unprinted if the customer so desires? If the quantity buying power of the government is to be used for the benefit of one commodity, why not extend it to all commodities?

The principle involved in this fight is whether or not it is a legitimate function of government, local, state or national, to go into competition with private citizens who must furnish the taxes and the brains to maintain government itself. The National Editorial Association is doing a public service in bringing this question to a head.

ART NOTES

HIGHEST PAID ARTIST

Maxfield Parrish is said to be the highest paid living painter. He is best known to those not of the cognoscenti by his "Old King Cole," which so long adorned the bar of the old Knickerbocker Hotel. For many years he has led a semi-recluse life at Cornish, New Hampshire, whither he fled from the fleshpots with Winston Churchill. Rumor has it he has not left his estate in ten years, save to go to the village. He has not exhibited his canvases in 40 years until recently, when a scant dozen appeared on Fifth avenue. One sold for $80,000. He painted for advertising agencies for years rather than sell his paintings, although he has often spent weeks decorating a post card to send to a friend. When not painting, he varies his artistic life by making furniture solely for his own amusement.

WILL SEE ARTISTS AT WORK

Visitors to the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition, opening in Philadelphia June 1, will have the privilege of viewing a scene rarely disclosed to the public when they behold, through the glass walls of an artist's studio, etchers, lithographers and wood-engravers busily at work on their designs.

The enterprise will be carried out in one of the galleries of the Fine Arts building, and its intention is part of the educational campaign designed to teach the public at large that good pictures may be obtained at prices low enough to be within the range of everyone and that it is not necessary for the man of average means to own originals in order to satisfy his aesthetic taste.

There is now on exhibition at the campus gallery at the University of California in Berkeley, a collection of ninety Johan Hagemeyer prints of portraits and industrial studies.

A splendid exhibition of the work of Armin Hansen is now hanging on the walls of the J. K. Oliver gallery in Monterey.

Carmel friends of Miss Effie Charlton Fortune, well-known artist, are looking forward to her visit here. She has been in Scotland and England for several years.

Two Santa Barbara artists, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Theobould, are in Carmel for several weeks. They will devote much time to sketching hereabouts.

CONSTABLE

Constable was right in maintaining that there was room for a natural painter and in his determination to be that painter. One has but to read his letters to see how passionate a lover of nature he was and how earnest in his endeavor to portray her. His innovations were not unnaturally received by the old school with hostility. The day of the brown tree was to pass forever; Constable was to paint nature as he found and loved her, the countryside of England, in sunshine and shade, but always full of light. His whole art was a revolt against applying to nature a system of composition and portrayal which was untrue and foreign to the scenes he painted.

His genius is best revealed in his spontaneous sketches in oil, in his drawings and some of his water colors. In his more finished pictures, he frequently lacks unity, there is a lack of directness, a conscientious application to detail which betrays an uninspired but painstaking craftsman over-anxious to attain completeness.

Constable was a typical instance of the supreme artist who cannot sustain for long the emotional state vital to the production of supreme work and who, consequently, has to go to work, upon the quickest and most direct lines, while it is upon him.—Percy Moore Turner in "The Appreciation of Painting."

RARE PRINTS OF OLD MISSIONS

Rare old prints of the California missions as they looked when first built, which have lately been discovered in the attic of a second-hand shop, are to form a special section of this year's Blue and Gold, the year book of the University of California.

Believed by Professor H. E. Bolton, chairman of the history department of the University, to be among the most valuable prints in existence, they picture the 21 old missions as they looked before they began to crumble. The reproduction of these will be particularly apropos to the Spanish-motif of this year's annual.

Carmel Lad is a Prize-Winner

Jules Verne, H. G. Wells and other prophets of a new and astounding life upon earth might well go to Billy Argo of Carmel for material on which to build their stories.

Along with hundreds of other boys from all over this country and Canada, Argo recently sent to The American Boy magazine his idea of what human existence would be like in 1966. Argo's conception was judged to be the best of the lot and consequently his article appears as a first prize letter in the April number of the magazine. The contest took the form of a suspended story which the readers were to finish.

Argo's prize winning conclusion and a synopsis of the first part of the story follows:

If 1966 is half what the imaginations of the hundreds of fellows who entered the 1966 Contest want to make it, we poor 1926-ers will look like Stone Age people, for all our radios and airplanes and submarines. The 1966 Editor asked for solutions to the fix Jimmy Wilson found himself in—high in the air in an atmospheric rowboat which was rapidly sinking because it was filling with rain. Jimmy, you'll remember, was chasing the thief who had stolen his dog Edgar (Pluto, the Office Pup, says Edgar is no name for a self-respecting dog!) and started off on his aerial bicycle.

One fellow made Jimmy's boat rise with yeast, and another blew the rain clouds away with a radio fan. Many and marvelous were the inventions of 1966—but read about the best ones yourself. When the story was broken off in the February "American Boy," the weight of the water was carrying Jimmy's boat down, and—

THE MYSTERY MAN
By Billy Argo (12) Carmel, California
(First Prize Letter)

Then Jimmy grabbed one of the hydrogen tanks and it carried him clear of the boat. With his teeth he loosened the valve and floated to earth.

Quickly he dashed over to the tower and pressed the button which carried the magnetic car to the top. Once there he took his father's gliding rocket and pressed the button which would bring the radiomagno cap into contact with the fender of the bicycle. He almost immediately caught up, and yelled to the man who was pedalling for dear life.

"Hey, what's the idea?"

Without answering the man grabbed a bottle 'o' glue which he hurled at the nose of the rocket. The attraction stopped at once. Jimmy, with one despairing glance, saw Edgar stick his nose from under the man's coat and howl with all his power.

"I'll have to get the Allen's old-time airplane," he said. "I'll get Edgar back if it takes me all of 1966!"

He felt funny in the old-time craft with its helicopters whirling helplessly. He could only make about one hundred miles per hour with the old tub tearing its best—and he was painfully aware of the fact that it was far from its best now. All of a sudden the motor began to sputter.

"What rotten luck!" he said disgustedly. But suddenly his frown changed to a smile. "Oh, man, what dandy luck."

This sudden change was brought about when Jimmy saw the thief slow down and glide to the ground.

"Well?" asked Jimmy when he had landed.

"I saw who you were so I had to stop and explain," said Edgar's captor. "I thought you were a thief trying to steal the dog so I did everything I could to keep you from getting him."

"That's all very well, but why did you steal him yourself?" asked Jimmy as Edgar frolicked around him.

"Because you forgot to get a 1966 license for the dog. You can get one now, if you like." The man flipped back a lapel and Jimmy saw in large letters: "DOG CATCHER."

"Well I'll be—" said Jim, digging into his pocket.

Many Carmelites "listened in" last Sunday on KGO (Oakland) station which broadcasted the forty-minute memorial service in honor of the late Robert Tolmie. The service opened with Shubert's "Unfinished Symphony" a favorite of the deceased musician, and closed with "Requiem," sung by Josephine Wilson-Jones.

Dr. and Mrs. Claude T. Ehred of Los Angeles spent the week-end with Dr. and Mrs. C. H. Lowell.

ITEMS OF INTEREST

Mrs. Ethel J. Weber and daughter Vida spent the Easter holidays in Carmel as guests of Mrs. Weber's sister, Mrs. Ward, wife of Capt. John W. Ward.

Miss Dorothy Catching, of Stockton, is a Carmel visitor during the Easter holidays, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. G. Allison Shoemaker. She is a student at the State Teachers College in San Jose.

About the first of next month Mrs. Florence Edgerton and Miss Emily Townsend will open a dressmaking establishment here. They have secured a store in the Hand building on Ocean avenue.

Warren A. Shoemaker, who is connected with the Concert Radio Studio of Carmel and the Santa Cruz store, made a business trip to San Francisco last Wednesday and will return to Carmel today.

A readjustment of the Sunday services at All Saints Episcopal Church is announced to take effect Sunday, April 11. The schedule is as follows: 8:00 a.m., Holy Communion; 9:45 a.m., Sunday School; 11:00 a.m., Church service.

Miss Helen Evans, daughter of H. E. Evans of Santa Cruz, and popular member of the younger set, was a recent visitor in Carmel. She is but recently from the East, and expresses her opinion of Carmel in one word: "adorable!"

Harrison Godwin has been elected secretary of the Monterey Peninsula Realty Board. Four Carmel firms have recently joined the organization: Carmel Land Co. (Hatton Fields); Hogle and Mawdsley; Lotta A. Shippoly; and the Carmel Investment Co.

Miss Henrietta Farley, Carmel student at the Monterey Hi, suffered a painful accident last Monday. While rounding third base after a home-run drive, she stumbled and injured her knee-cap. She is reported as doing nicely, but may be laid up for some time. Dr. R. A. Kocher is in attendance.

Mrs. Henry Beaumont Martin and her charming daughter, Margaret, were recent guests of the Misses Friant at their attractive home on San Carlos street. Miss Martin attended a number of social functions while here. The Messrs. Scheller, Henry, and Victor Martin motored down from San Jose for the week-end.

On Thursday evening a group of young people were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred W. Wheldon. Those present were: Robert H. Perry of Berkeley, Ruth M. Brooks, Grace E. Pender, Joseph Brooks of Pasadena, Virginia Rockwell, Florence L. Ten Winkle of San Francisco, Ada M. Roberts of San Mateo, Marjorie and Laura Lane of Burlingame, and Miss Mary W. Wheldon.

The Curtain Shop

The large and growing demand for cretonnes for curtains and for other uses has made it necessary for Miss Brouhard to increase her stock of samples now on display at 433 Alvarado street, Monterey.—Adv.

ARTS AND CRAFTS PLAYERS DO EXCELLENT WORK

The excellence of the performances presented in Arts and Crafts Theater under the direction of George M. Ball was again artistically and efficiently emphasized last week-end when two full houses witnessed the production of "In His Arms."

Ball seems to have a particular genius in appreciating the characters which the authors have put into their plays and in casting these correctly. It was so in "The Bad Man" to a high degree, and again it was so in this latest production.

The work of Miss Mary G. Shallue and Mrs. Walcott is particularly worthy of praise, and the supporting cast left nothing to be desired.

The public is looking forward eagerly to the next offering of the Ball organization, which is scheduled for April 23 and 24.

AN IDEAL CANDIDATE

The retirement of J. E. Hunter from the office of County Tax Collector has brought into the field the candidacy of Mrs. Viola Rice, for five years chief deputy in the office, to succeed Mr. Hunter.

The announcement of Mrs. Rice's intention to submit her candidacy to the voters at the August primary is hailed with satisfaction all over the county.

No better qualified successor to the present holder of the office could possibly be selected.

CARMEL BOYS' CLUB

The promised beach supper and April fool party for the Boys' Club came off Wednesday afternoon. There were games of various sorts, and the boys lived up to their reputation as good eaters. The opening of the April fool bundles caused a lot of fun, and after all was over a bunch of tired boys wended their weary way homeward—where they undoubtedly ate another supper.

IRELAND'S TELEPHONES

Since 1922 telephone calls in the Irish Free State have increased by more than twenty-five per cent. The number of telephone exchanges has increased in the same period from 194 to 321, the total number added amounting to 127.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Beard of Greeley, Colorado, arrived last Wednesday from Phoenix, Arizona, where they have been spending the winter, to be the guests of their daughter, Mrs. E. L. Taylor, for an indefinite period. Mr. Beard was formerly owner of a weekly paper in the Middle West, and is a veteran of the Civil War.

Miss Emma Kreymborg, artist, of Los Angeles, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Geo. T. Crompton of San Francisco, at La Playa Hotel over the Easter holidays.

GROVE CONCERT PLEASES SIX HUNDREDAn Appreciation by S.A.R.

Some of the old-timers, so 'tis written, were forced to make bricks without straw—whatever that may mean, for we are dense respecting the part played by such an ingredient. We once knew an East Indian who barbecued perfectly with scraps of freshly broken bottle glass. And once upon a time we knew a youth who hollowed out a mammoth sweet potato, and with the aid of certain plugs and nimble fingers and breath properly applied, drew soulful music from the gutted tuber. But the ancient Egyptians, the brown man from Bombay, the spud-symphony boy, have nothing on Conductor Cosmey of the Pacific Grove Musical Society when it comes right down to giving a concert with shortage of voices and instruments.

It is "all for art." Players and singers draw no salary. And there's the rub. If the viola is of a mind to break a concert date to play bridge, the oboe go fishing, the trumpet to act as best man at a night wedding, Conductor Cosmey can neither fine nor scold. He can but pray that "legitimate" flu, mumps and measles, will not rob him further.

We were among those who attended the concert of the worthy organization last Tuesday evening in the Grove Theatre, and herewith and hereby compliment the conductor, the vocal and instrumental helpers, for their part in a well-balanced program. If in the initial march, Arbogast's "Abide With Me," musical virtuosi among the listeners detected a shortage in brass, be it known that the trombonist, Chandler Stewart, was one of the "legitimately" sick. Lippman, trumpeteer and cavalryman, plus Donald Hawley, drafted oboist and cavalryman also, blew bravely and atoned in measure.

If there was a shortage of strings perceptible in some of the softer moments of the "Madame Butterfly" selections, be it known that Conductor Cosmey was shy a quartet of fiddlers. Skilful work on the part of Mesdames Hawley and Cator glossed these moments and added lustre to the number.

Shades of Alice Shaw! And Carroll MacComas, who whistled her way around the world! We never dreamed there was another female who could pucker her lips, and with nothing to moisten them, put to shame the mocking bird, the meadow-lark. And, behold, we heard Eleanor King. Twice the lady responded to enthusiastic applause before wending her way where we wot not.

The ever-popular "Peer Gynt Suite," minus we think the item of "Day-break," was especially well done. The tumultuous bit "In the Hall of the Mountain King" was a triumph alike for conductor and players.

And now the high light of the evening: Carroll Sandholt in the "Invictus" of Huhn, and Tosti's immortal "Good-bye." Beautifully done, both of them. A tenor robusto, clear as a new bell, full and rich. Two songs sung with power and feeling. And then for an encore, "Mother Machree." All three were not enough to satisfy, and with no loss of power or purity of tone, this talented youth from Moss Landing responded for the third time, then took an additional bow.

A satisfactory "Merry Wives of Windsor" selection was followed by the closing number, "Unfold Ye Portals" from Gounod's "The Redemption." Orchestra and chorus participated in this, and had Conductor Cosmey his twenty truant voices and seven absentee instruments on hand, a fuller (scarcely sweeter) rendition would have been had.

A remarkable concert, we opine, given under difficulties almost unsurmountable. It should be repeated: in Monterey, in Carmel. The organization should be a Peninsular one, subsidized by those among the wealthy who appreciate the finer things of life. And if none (or not enough) of these feel moved to loosen the buckles of their wallets, future concerts and the modest expenses of the organization should be made possible through liberable patronage by those among us who love good music and will give up butter for Nucoa that we may hear it.

The Classic Tailleur is Built on the Slimmest and Briefest Lines

Well-cut tailored suits are seen in the best streets, in the smartest shops and on the decks de luxe of the great liners.

Snazzy as it looks, severely as it is cut, practical as it is in its dun colors and durable materials, the tailored suit is nevertheless one of the great aristocrats of dress. One always finds it in the wardrobes of the smartest women and sees it in the highest places. This Spring its jacket is short in the new finger length. The great tailors of Paris are making it of shepherd's checks, wool coverts, tweeds, cheviots and mannish suiting in diamond, chevron and herring-bone weaves.

If There Were No Electricity For California Farms

The agricultural production of the Golden State would be far short of what it is today if electricity had not been available over broad territories.

There would not have been any electric pumps, cream separators, milking machines, churning, lights, silage cutters, feed grinders and hundreds of other electric farm helps on California ranches, except for the development of electric power companies by men who put their money together, formed partnerships and built the electric transmission systems.

These great systems link the cities and the rural districts to a large efficient power source so that at hours when the cities don't need the power, the farmers make use of it and when the farmers do not need it, the cities use it up and both get service at low rates.

— FACTS —

The cost of living is 65% higher than in 1913.

The cost of electricity is less than in 1913.

Electricity is the cheapest form of farm labor, the more you use the cheaper it gets.

Pine Needles

Miss Jessie Askew, a student of the State Teachers College in San Jose, is visiting her parents during the Easter vacation.

Miss Elizabeth Sampson, daughter of Mrs. Sampson of the Blue Bird Tea Room, is here from Los Angeles where she is attending a girls' school.

Frank Sheridan, reformed actor, who has been in the cast of "Twelve Miles Out," at the Alcazar in San Francisco for five weeks, has completed his engagement and returned to Carmel.

The largest over-Easter crowd that has ever visited in Carmel is here this week. Hotel accommodations and cottages have been in much demand. All the dining places have been well patronized.

Walter K. Jamison of Burlingame, T. R. Jamison of San Jose, and George T. Jamisone of Oakland, were in Carmel a few days last week, visiting their brother and sister, Captain and Mrs. John W. Ward on Scenic Road.

Captain and Mrs. John W. Ward have returned from Berkeley. Last Saturday Mrs. Ward was a patroness at the graduation tea of her niece, Vida Francis Weber, in the Rose Room of the Palace Hotel, San Francisco.

During her stay in these parts, Mrs. Ella Young, who is a lecturer on Irish folk lore, will be the house guest of Mrs. John O'Shea at Carmel Highlands.

Prof. C. L. Beidebach, one of the most widely known educators in the state, was a caller at the Pine Cone office this week. He is principal of the Berkeley Hi.

The last meeting of the City Trustees before election takes place next Monday night. The first meeting after the election, takes place a half hour after the polls close on April 12.

Chaplain Thornton Charles Miller, L. S. N., his wife and children, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Byron G. Newell this week. Captain Miller is stationed at Yerba Buena Island. Mrs. Miller is a niece of Mrs. Newell.

Will Needham and family of Berkeley were visitors here this week. Needham has been in the real estate business in Berkeley for a number of years. His father and uncle were well-known Methodist preachers.

FOOD SALE TODAY

RESTRICTED PROPERTY

Restrictions on high class residence property are a most precious asset.

Restrictions are the surest guarantee of increased values. Carmel waterfront property, although selling for $2000 and more a lot, is still far from reaching its peak.

Yet the peak of prices near the beach would be much higher if the property had been reasonably restricted in the beginning. The lack of restrictions in other coast towns have in some cases halted the upward trend of values or even caused their depreciation.

HATTON FIELDS home sites, far lower per given area at the present time than other desirable residence property, are sure to find their way to the top of Carmel prices and partly because of the protection of values that restrictions give.

HATTON FIELDS will never be spoiled by a jumble of architectural monstrosities.

HATTON FIELDS will never be denuded of its oaks, pines and lilacs.

The quiet of HATTON FIELDS will never be broken by the sounds of industry.

HATTON FIELDS home owners will never be robbed of their view of sea and mountains. Nor will there ever be the possibility of neighbors crowding in on them.

HATTON FIELDS home sites, per 40 by 100 ft. area, range in price from $300 to $550, as against $2000 and more for Carmel waterfront lots and $1000 to $1500 for desirable lots farther back.

HATTON FIELDS prices will not long remain at their present low level. Now is the time to buy in HATTON FIELDS.

This advertisement is not intended as an invitation to investors, although there is of course no means of preventing speculative investment in HATTON FIELDS plots. It is a summons and a warning to home builders to see and investigate HATTON FIELDS before buying elsewhere in Carmel or this vicinity.
